A SPECTACULAR FLIGHT

Captain Yancey's successful flight to Bermuda was spectacular. No matter how often it may be done, there is something impressive about the business of projecting oneself into the air at a speed of a hundred miles an hour and aiming for a tiny goal at a remote distance. Even in land flying it is hazardous enough, but when the factor of water is present an added handicap, it becomes, to say the least, thrilling.

The flight was not without considerable interest as a demonstration of the growing practicability of transoceanic travel. It does not compare with the astounding flight of the Southern Cross, which hit a "goal" 3,144 miles away without the use of radio beacons and despite rain, storms and clouds, because the Bermuda flight had everything in its favor. There are many interesting aspects, however, which have to do with the possibilities of astronomical navigation of aircraft.

Captain Yancey started the backward of the true course to counteract the drift of a northeast wind. Apparently his allowance was insufficient and he discovered, when he was about a third of the way out, that he was 20 miles to the west of his course. Further allowance was made but at two-thirds of the way he reckoned his error to be forty miles to the westward. His last report was that he was coming down sixty miles north of Bermuda, which makes it appear that he had corrected his course too much and flown as far eastward of the course as he had drifted westward. Since his target was only eighteen miles wide he prudently took to the water and awaited daylight.

That action was, perhaps, an even more important feature of the flight than the navigation. It was the first time that a plane had taken to the water and resumed its flight later under such conditions. Presumably Captain Yancey calculated his position during the night and arrived in Bermuda the next morning which was convincing demonstration of the safety and resourcefulness of air travel. To be sure, everything was favorable—very little wind, a smooth sea and no fog—but other planes have come to destruction under conditions which may have been equally good. Everything considered, Captain Yancey may be said to have provided the material for another interesting chapter in aviation.

SWAPPING PROTECTION

In 1929, the United States exported to France automobiles and parts valued at approximately $12,600,000. In the same year, the value of the lace, embroideries, veilings and articles composed of these materials imported from France to the United States amounted to approximately $7,600,000. Consequently, the new prohibitive duties voted by the Senate on French lace will be met by France in the obvious way—a prohibitive duty on American automobiles. It is the same action that might be expected were the two countries reversed, or if such a situation were to occur between any other two countries.

The projected tariff action of France against United States automobiles comes at a time when it will be felt keenly. The automobile industry in this country is turning more and more to foreign markets. The value of automotive exports to France alone increased more than seventy per cent from 1928 to 1929 and it is estimated that the automobiles exported to that country, or assembled there from parts manufactured in the United States, amounted in 1929 to five per cent of the French production.

The present French tariff on automobiles imported from this country is forty-five per cent of their value when presented to the customs. This value is declared to be about equal to the value of similar French products, less the import duty. In theory it approximates the cost of the automobile plus transportation expenses. The new duties proposed to balance the United States tariff on laces would average about 90 per cent. In the pending tariff bill, the rate on French laces entering the United States has jumped from between seventy-five and ninety per cent to approximately 127 per cent, a figure which will not encourage any sympathy from France in the matter of American automobiles.

Congress cannot protest French action in this matter. It is retaliation, pure and simple, and the only action that could be expected under the circumstances. If Congress insists on extreme duties, it can expect them in return.

What Others Say

CLEARING HOUSE FOR GENIUS

This being a mechanical age, when a higher premium is placed upon invention than ever before in the world's history, it seems fitting and proper that some effort should be made to rescue inventive genius from the mire of poverty, its greatest obstacle.

Such is the object of a large organization of Wall Street financiers and prominent industrialists who have just founded what they are pleased to call a clearing-house for inventive genius. They plan to comb this country and Europe for inventions of every nature, weed out the impracticable and worthless ones and provide a market for those of value.

Besides acting as a medium between inventors and manufacturers, the organization also will form underwriting syndicates for the financing of enterprises deemed suitable or building into individual industries. No pretense is made of altruism. A large part of the world's wealth is tied up in inventions, many of them of the simplest nature. These men merely are prepared to invest money in brains with the hope of good returns, and a fair deal for the owners of the brains.

Just how much inventive genius withers and dies for lack of material encouragement is a mooted question, but the probability is that much of it suffers this fate. That a great many of the world's most useful inventions were brought into use only after heart-breaking struggles by their originators, many of whom realize little or nothing from their labors, is an old story—Columbus' Dispatch.

SPRING COLDS

In the spring of the year colds are more common perhaps than at other times. This is because the resistance is lowered to such an extent that the watchful germ, all the time present, may find a gap, a lodging place in the nose or throat. Very soon inflammation of the delicate mucous membrane follows.

So long as the cold can be confined to the nose it is troublesome and annoying, but not serious. But very often it does not stop there. The cold may extend to the bronchial tubes, to the eyes and ears.

With young children, the most common acute disease, next to indigestion and diarrhea, is cold in the chest, or bronchitis. It may be mild, with little or no fever. In a severe case the fever may go as high as 102 degrees F.

The cough may be loose or dry and most annoying. It may be so bad that it is almost like whooping cough. Care must be taken that it does not develop into broncho-pneumonia.

A child may have diseased tonsils or adenoids and this disability may be the cause of lowered resistance to disease. These things should be corrected and not allowed to go on until serious sickness results.

Adults who ride in public buses and street cars, those who are exposed to cold, or suffer from emphysema and indigestion, are most susceptible to bronchitis. Over-tiredness and damp feet are common factors in bringing on this condition.

After middle life everyone should take increasing care of the health. Many persons stay too much indoors, keep late hours, live in rooms of uneven temperatures. They are easily chilled.

The attacks of bronchitis may recur annually at about the same time of the year. There is excessive coughing and raising of mucus and the breathing is difficult. In aged persons great care must be taken that the condition does not develop into pneumonia. The patient should be kept warm until the doctor takes charge.

Constipation usually accompanies such a condition. This should be overcome. The general health must be built up. Simple but nourishing food should be taken. Regularity in eating is of the greatest importance.

Keep an even and warm temperature in the house. Avoid getting the slightest chill. It is important to have good ventilation, but in a way to avoid cold.

When the patient is able to do so, he should get out in the fresh air and sunshine. There is nothing more essential than having the direct rays of the sun.

Much is being said about the ultra-violet ray therapy for treatment in colds, bronchitis and pneumonia. Many doctors are using sun-ray lamps in these cases and seem to have good results. It is to be hoped that for the long winter months, when sunshine is at a premium, there will be found in the future some practical means of imitating this sort of light can be used in a way to build up health, just as sunshine does.

Kidney, Stomach Disorders Proved Discouraging

Owa-Ten-Na Gave Me New Strength and Corrected My Health Troubles

MR. A. N. HAWLEY

Mr. A. N. Hawley, 1326 St. Louis, St. E. Canton, Ohio, says: "I kept a bottle of Owa-Ten-Na handy all the time and whenever I don't feel just right, I take it and it keeps me in good condition. For several years I had been troubled quite badly with constipation. This caused me to have a lot of trouble with indigestion. Food would ferment in my stomach and cause gas. Sometimes I felt as though I had a lazy liver because I just felt tired and worn out all the time—no pep or energy. My kidneys, too, were in bad condition as I suffered with severe backaches. Daily spells and headaches were a common thing with me.

"What a wonderful relief I found in Owa-Ten-Na. Even the first bottle made a big change in my condition. My bowels started to function normally, headaches were relieved, food digested properly and my appetite picked up wonderfully. My kidneys are acting much better. My nerves are stronger and I feel better in every way. I am certainly glad that I learned about Owa-Ten-Na and I feel that everyone who is suffering will find in this Indian Remedy, a different medicine than they have ever taken."

Owa-Ten-Na is sold in Salem at J. H. Loebe Drug Co., Three Square.

"Knowing as I do that any crowd drawn together as this has been made up of citizens hereabout, and that in this county of Franklin there is a great difference of political sentiment, those agreeing with me having a little the shortest row"—here he smiled and the audience interrupted with laughter—"from this and the circumstance I have mentioned I infer that you do me the honor to meet me here without distinction of party. I think this is as it should be. Many of you who were not favorable to my election were favorable to the election of the distinguished senator from the state in which I reside.

"If Senator Douglas had been elected to the presidency in the late contest, I think my friends would have joined heartily in meeting and greeting him on his passage through your capital as you have met me today. If any other candidate had been elected I think it would have been altogether fitting and proper for all to have joined in showing honor quite as well to the office and the country as the man. The people themselves are honored by such a concentration. I am doubly grateful that you have assembled here to give me this greeting. It is not much to me, for I shall soon pass away from you, but we have a large country and a great future before us, and the manifestation of good will toward the government and affection for the union which you exhibit are of immense value to you and your posterity forever. In this point of view it is that I thank you most heartily for the exhibition you have given me, and with this allow me to bid you an affectionate farewell."

DEATH FOLLOWS IN OHIO BLAZE

Aged Watchman Killed In Fire Which Destroys Zanesville Plant

ZANESVILLE, O., April 9.—One man was burned to death today when fire destroyed the studios and plant of the Ad-Post Service, incorporated, here.

The victim was the night watchman of the concern, David Petty, aged 70.

Explosion of several 50-gallon drums of painting fluid, which is used by the service, handicapped firemen in their work and spread the blaze beyond control.

Damage of $50,000 resulted when the conflagration destroyed the studios and plant of the organization. They were housed in the same building.

Petty's body was recovered, but it had been burned almost beyond recognition.

The Ad-Post service is a billboard advertising concern and is statewide in the scope of its work.

An overheated coal stove in one of the studios is believed to have started the fire.

COLUMBUS MAN BULLET VICTIM

Police Believe Robbery Motive In Shooting In East Side Store Tuesday Night; No Clues

Columbus, O., April 9.—Police today were investigating the fatal shooting of Louis Sherman, 40, in a southwest side confectionery here last night.

No clue to the identity of the person who fired the fatal shot was found. While not definitely assigning robbery as the motive, police were working on the theory that the shooting resulted from an attempt at banditry.

Witnesses told police that one man stood on the sidewalk in front of the store and fired the shot through the open door, while another man acted as lookout on a nearby corner. The two men disappeared down an alley and police could find no trace of them.

Church Holds Young Peoples' Service

Young peoples' night was observed Tuesday evening at the evangelistic service at the Christian church. A moving picture "Conference and Questing Youth" was shown as a prelude to the service.

This picture was taken at Wilmington college during a young peoples' conference, and showed activities and recreations which are provided by the organization which Rev. Gaines M. Cook, the evangelist, directs.

Rev. Cook spoke on "Losing Life and Finding It" following the picture.

Tonight the service is being planned especially for the women of the church. Men are also invited to attend.

Ohioan Kills Wife, Then Shoots Self

CINCINNATI, O., April 9.—Everett T. Haggard, 33, today shot and killed his wife, Laura Haggard, 27, and then attempted to commit suicide by firing a bullet into his own body, according to police. The husband is in a dying condition at a local hospital.

The 7-year-old son of the couple, Harris Haggard, discovered the tragedy.

STEEL MERGER

They are voted for the merger despite the fact that they are owned by Eaton interests, who have waged a bitter and spectacular three-week battle against the consummation of the consolidation of Sheet and Tube with Bethlehem.

It was plainly evident today that the merger vote will not end this greatest of great industrial battles. Extensive legal action, it was foreseen, will cloud the outcome indefinitely.

The counting of the merger votes as continued with renewed effort today by a large staff of stenographers and accountants. Despite the pressure and rapidity with which the election officials are working, however, it was not believed that the vote will be completed until late Thursday or early Friday.

Regarding Judge Turnbaugh's decision on the injunction suit, he explained that the question involved was: "Can the stockholder vote the 51,638 shares of stock owned by Otis & Co., and bought after 1 p. m. March 22?"

"If that was the one question involved in the matter, it would hold that the proxy committee has not the right to vote these shares of stock," the judge said. "But, the stockholders are the owners of every corporation and have the power to vote their stock as they wish."

He cited several similar cases for the upholding of his ruling and ended his address with the remarks that he could not grant such an injunction which sought to "restrain the stockholders from their rights."

Less than an hour after Judge Turnbaugh's decision, the special meeting of stockholders of Youngstown re-convened after having been adjourned since 11:30 p. m. yesterday. The session was immediately adjourned until 8 p. m. tonight.

Held For Shooting

MEARTHUR, April 9.—Officials today held Delbert Webb, 18, for the shooting and wounding of his father, 40, who is believed recovering from 200 shotgun pellet abrasions in a Columbus hospital. Officials said the son confessed shooting his parent from ambush after they had quarreled.

Few Bear Ohio Tax Burden, Speaker Tells County Bureau

LISBON, April 9.—"Comparatively few people bear the tax burden of the state," L. B. Palmer, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and of the All-Ohio Tax League, pointed out to the Columbus Farm Bureau. "All groups must join hands if a solution to Ohio's tax problem is to be reached that will bring the greatest good to the largest number," he said.

Palmer advocated the adoption of a state income tax law as a means

DOCTOR, NURSE DIE IN OFFICE

Suicide, Murder Believed Cause of Tragedy In New York City

NEW YORK, April 9.—A signal flash caused by an overturned telephone led to the discovery early today of the slain bodies of a physician and a young woman in the doctor's office-apartment in the fashionable Sutton place section along the East river.

The body of the physician, Dr. Maxwell B. Allen, 35 years old, was found on the bedroom floor. He had been shot through the right temple. A .38 calibre revolver lay near his side.

The young woman, who was tentatively identified from a slip of paper in her pocketbook as Miss Florence LaPelle, 25, his nurse-secretary, was lying on a bed shot through the neck.

Powder marks on both the man and woman indicated to police that the shots had been fired at close range. They expressed the belief that the physician had shot the girl and killed himself.

Illinois Dean Dies From Heart Disease

URBANA, Ill., April 9.—Professor Charles E. Chadsey, 59, dean of the University of Illinois college of education since 1919, and one of the foremost educational authorities in the state, died today of heart disease. He had been ill for two days.

He was a former superintendent of schools at Detroit.

ILLINOIS WOMAN

The first woman ever to win a senatorial nomination from a major political party, was accomplished by pluralities from every part of the state. However, her great strength, which showed as a surprise to many political wisecracks, was in Chicago.

Senator Deneen's home town where, only two years ago, he led the fight that dumped Mayor Thompson from his place of party power.

Mrs. McCormick's indicated advantage in Chicago and Cook county alone, on the basis of the incomplete returns, may exceed 150,000 votes.

Opposes World Court

Mrs. McCormick sought the nomination on a platform of opposition to the world court.

Prohibition promises to join the world court issue in the November campaign. Lewis has announced it to be a major issue, so far as he is opposed to prohibition. Mrs. McCormick classifies as a dry.

The extent of Mrs. McCormick's victory in Chicago was apparent in figures showing that she apparently has carried Senator Deneen's home ward, the 17th. She carried also the 25th, home ward of the murdered "Diamond Joe" Eposito, Deneen ward leader.

She was to return late today to Washington to resume her congressional duties. When she returns home, she said, she will commence a campaign for election as vigorous as that which preceded yesterday's primary.

BUENOS AIRES—Excellent finger prints have been exchanged by radio with Berlin police. The time of transmission was eight minutes.

STUDENTS HURT IN MOVIE BLAST

Film Explodes In Athens Theater; Operator Badly Burned

ATHENS, O., April 9.—Six Ohio university students and a motion picture operator were injured in an explosion of projection films at the Columbia theater here last night.

The students were cut by flying glass when a plate glass window in the second story burst as they were hurrying from the building. None was hurt seriously.

Walter Bobo, the operator, was severely burned as he fought the flames, which were confined to the projecting room. He was unable to explain how the accident happened.

The theme song of the picture continued after the blast had extinguished the lights and averted a threatened stampede.

Those cut by the flying glass were: Madeline Cadot, 19, South Webster; Margaret Johnson, 19, Glastier; Clyde Cramer, 20, Uhrichsville; Ohio university football star; Arthur Phillips, 20, Gallipolis; Edwin Moody, 19, Uhrichsville; Francis Martin, 19, and Ruth Clements, 18, both of Athens.

Damage was estimated at $3,000.

MANY KILLED IN RUSSIAN RIOTS

Church Fracas Results In Number Of Casualties, Reports From Berlin State Today

BERLIN, April 9.—Many persons were reported to have been killed and wounded in a religious riot in the Russian town of Tyraspol today, according to a Bucharest dispatch to the Berlin newspaper Tempo.

The riot broke out, the message declared, when Soviet troops aided by members of the militant league of atheists, attempted to prevent residents of the town from entering the cathedral.

Details of the reported riot are lacking. The tempo declares the majority of the town's population approached the Orthodox cathedral to find its gates barred by the Soviet troops and atheists.

Attempting to enter the cathedral for services, the report declares, the troops attempted to disperse them by force. A sanguinary conflict is said to have followed.

The exact number of casualties is not known.

Meet April Days with Plenty of ICE

TEMPERATURES vary a lot these spring days — warm one hour, chilly the next. It is then that foods must be especially well protected to keep them fresh and flavorful, safe for the family table. And foods kept in a well ice refrigerator will stay fresh and pure. The temperature is at a constant low cold, and the air neither too moist nor too dry, but just right to keep foods in prime condition. Where there are children in the family, it is particularly important that here be a plentiful supply of ice in the ice box all the time. Their vigorous young bodies must depend on food that is pure and healthful. Make us responsible for keeping your refrigerator well iced.

False Fire Alarms Keep Laddies Busy

COLUMBUS, April 9.—John McLaughlin, 20, who police alleged, has a penchant for turning in false alarms and turning on fire hydrants, is being held today.

Eight false alarms kept firemen busy last night while the maintenance crew of the department was kept even busier shutting off 17 fire hydrants which had been turned on, allowing water to rush into the streets.

According to firemen, McLaughlin appeared at several places where the false alarms were sounded. The youth denies any part in the affair.

LEGION AUXILIARY

The American Legion auxiliary has changed the date of its luncheon for Gold Star mothers and widows of World war veterans, who sail May 4 for France, from April 23 to April 29, it was announced today.

Women planning to go to France are asked to notify Mrs. Ralph Sturgeon, East State st.

Mrs. Alice Bye, member of the Salem unit, and Mrs. Reynolds, of Damascus, are among those planning to go to France.

At the meeting Tuesday evening the charter was draped for Mrs. Arne Myers, Gold Star mother, who died recently.

Some time was devoted to making poppies for the annual sale. The hostesses, Mrs. George Munsell and Mrs. Clifford Stoudt, served lunch. Next Tuesday evening the members will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Apple, North Lincoln ave., to make poppies.

EDNA THOMAS SOCIETY

One new member was added at a meeting of the Edna Thomas society of the Methodist church Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. H. W. Perkins, South Union ave.

Plans were made for the annual Thank offering service, which will be on Sunday, May 4.

Mrs. Glen Harding gave a solo and Miss Eleanor McMurray gave the chapter from the study book.

At the social period, Mrs. Perkins, and her associate hostess, Mrs. J. W. Hicks, served lunch.

MARTHA LANG CIRCLE

Mrs. Harry Booty and Mrs. Charles Scott were associate hostesses to members of the Martha Lang circle of the First Baptist church Tuesday evening at the Booty home, East Third st.

Mrs. Norman Kelley had devotionals. A number of the members had part in the program. Lunch was served at the social period.

MISS VINCENT'S CLASS

Miss Doris King entertained members of Miss Ora Vincent's class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school at her home on West Tenth st.

After the business meeting, games were played. The hostess served lunch.

"Acting in one month the members will be guests of Miss Sara Starbuck, Ellsworth rd.

TODAY

When American locomotive engineers had their big strike they did not lie down on the tracks. They loaded a flat car with giant powder, ran it into a roundhouse and blew the locomotives to pieces.

Sad and true, gentleness wins few fights.

At Point Barrow, Alaska, natives have been near famine, for lack of land game, with mountainous ice, choking the harbor and making fishing impossible. Early on Sunday morning the ice disappeared, but no native went out in his kayak until midnight.

THEY ARE CHRISTIANS now and take seriously the good missionaries warning that if they fish on Sunday they will learn, later, something about heat unknown in Alaska. Those Christian natives would be surprised to see prosperous, civilized Christianity here and elsewhere, playing golf, fishing and otherwise, not taking religious teaching too seriously.

VARIOUS THINGS. Hunters for the American museum of natural history, are returning to America bringing three specimens of the long-haired Siberian tiger. You will soon see them stuffed. In Chile, villagers living at the foot of the volcano Orsano, flee from great streams of scalding water gushing from the crater, 7,500 feet high. A big and temporarily important battle between Chinese armies is expected every day. A genghis khan or tamerlane is needed to control that situation.

How great is money's power. When the Turkish sultan lived to cross the threshold of his harem was death. Now, by Kemal's order, you may enter and look around on payment of 25 cents. For that small sum you see the bed in which the beautiful sultana Kressem, called for her beauty "body of the Moon" was strangled by the sultan's order with the cords of her bed curtains.

MEXICO'S GOVERNMENT wisely forbids the manufacture of alcohol or whiskey from corn. "Corn liquor" is poisonous stuff at best. The Mexican government says the people should eat corn, not drink it. The best wine and alcohol come from grapes, next best from sugar and various fruits that grow in sun, shade, next from barley, then rye, then corn, then potatoes, then wood, yielding alcohol that is deadly poison.

C. A. MITCHNER, Texas, candidate for the Senate, has for a campaign motto, "Give every poor man a cow. And if he's too poor to send for it, let the United States government deliver it to him."

In Texas, where 100 cows for every man would have room, that is a good campaign idea. In eastern territory, cities especially, the demand of every man is for an automobile. He would not know what to do with a cow, or where to begin. What big city dwellers, especially need is low prices for garage space. Many can afford a car that cannot afford $3,600 to keep a roof over it.

STYLE EDICTS

PARIS, April 7.—Tennis Pyjamas are taking first honors in spring sports wear and will certainly tempt more women to the courts this summer, just as chic winter wear drew them to the ice-rinks and snow-fields.

They really are the most comfortable costume possible and since they resemble a very wide skirt and are not in the least conspicuous, even for the very modern sportswoman. The blouse has a smart crossover front with two large buttons and the belted-in waist is easy-fitting. The inserted pieces at each side are cut in forme, while the godets give fullness to the front and there are fine pleats at the back.

Molyneux, who started this ball rolling, is showing a charming model in "yellow shantung figured in black and white. The frock is short with divided skirt and short knickerbockers to match.

Louis Boulanger is making tennis pyjamas with a detachable skirt worn over shantung trousers which match jumper blouse. They come in all the lovely pastel shades and white.

Mary Nowitzky, always famous for her pyjamas, makes them more like real beach-wear and provides for great width at the ankles, sometimes by the cut of the trouser leg or by godets and pleats. Her distinctive note is the mounting of the trousers on yokes which swing low in front and are buttoned up in many cases.

As for the ubiquitous fly, the score, the house is scored against the first invader, the better. There are no more on the market screens that roll up and down like window shades, so that they can be slipped out of sight when not needed. But at the first sign of warm weather, down they come, affording quick and complete protection at that spot. It is quite possible to keep a house completely free from flies nowadays, and with less trouble.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

While they are still invisible—that's the time to begin the battle against our seasonal insect enemies. It isn't the moth one sees flying about but the egg. Although they are very tiny little white specks, they are numerous and in a few weeks can carve enough out of a clothes closet to make a wardrobe quite useless.

Wherefore it is necessary not only to destroy the moths that are seen flying about but to look upon them as a danger signal. Where there is a flying moth there are sure to be innumerable eggs, not quite visible because they are usually laid in dark seams and corners and pockets. A greasy spot is the ideal home for eggs, as well as dark places.

There are several protective measures that are easily followed. Clothes that are in regular use and regularly brushed and cleaned are fairly safe from insect attack. But once a garment of any kind is set aside for storage, it needs insect protection. First and foremost, such garments should be thoroughly cleaned before placing in any closet or even a mothproof bag. An immaculate article does not attract the moth searching for a laying-spot. Also, the substances used for dry-cleaning repel them. The closet too should be thoroughly cleaned, not merely dusted, but scrubbed with soap and water, well aired and sprayed with some insecticide.

The various chest precautions—a bag or box that can be firmly sealed, cedar chests or cedar closets, camphor and naphthalene balls and crystals should be used liberally. They all help. And chests or closets containing stored articles should be cold—never in a warm spot. The crystals are perhaps more practical than the balls which may roll to one spot and not spread their penetrating odor throughout. The crystals, on the other hand, can be thoroughly scattered to cover the garment or blanket or drapery thoroughly.

As for the ubiquitous fly, the score, the house is scored against the first invader, the better. There are no more on the market screens that roll up and down like window shades, so that they can be slipped out of sight when not needed. But at the first sign of warm weather, down they come, affording quick and complete protection at that spot. It is quite possible to keep a house completely free from flies nowadays, and with less trouble.

than if one depends entirely on exterminating them after they have appeared. If the house is effectively screened against them, and outside garbage pails, etc., kept carefully shut and waste quickly disposed of, there is nothing to attract flies, or to nourish them if a few happen to call.

Any aperture is enough to admit an insect. And that little slit under the sill where the screen doesn't fit snugly or a few holes in one of the screens will undo all the good work. But if despite all precautions a fly is observed, or a mosquito makes its presence known—quick action will prevent further trouble. And if there are a number of the little pests, one way to get rid of them quickly is to shut all the doors of that particular room, open the window from the top a few inches, and turn on an electric fan. Or shut up the room and leave some fly paper that will attract them. Fly paper should always be hung high enough to be completely out of reach.

GANDHI OPPOSES BRITISH ORDERS

Nationalist Leader Still Conducts Revolt Which Gains In Momentum

SURAT, BOMBAY, INDIA, April 9.—Moving to a new battlefield, Mahatma Gandhi preached his doctrine of civil disobedience and passive resistance to British authority today at Bhimrad.

Villagers, volunteers and visitors from Surat amid shouts of "long live Gandhi," followed the Nationalist leader onto lands inundated by the tides and collected salt in violation of the British monopoly. Each took a small quantity of salt from the marshy land.

A striking feature of the demonstration was a chorus which sang seditious songs. Gandhi's journey here was by train. He was accompanied by his son, Manilal Gandhi.

The revolt against the British appears to be gaining momentum daily. Reports from various parts of Gujarat indicated that many Indian women are taking part in the demonstrations.

Weather Outlook

The disturbance that was over the far northeast yesterday morning has practically disappeared from the field of observation and the "high" that was over eastern Iowa is now centered over the Upper Ohio valley.

This latter area has caused a slight change to colder in the Atlantic states with light to killing frosts in the region of the storm center. The temperature is now rising quite generally over the central valleys and falling west of the Rockies. The further eastward drift of the pressure areas during the next 36 hours will be favorable to fair, warmer weather in this vicinity tonight and Thursday with increasing cloudiness on Thursday.

"WEDDING RINGS"

At The State
"Wedding Rings," a sophisticated drama of the screen, will be seen and heard at the State tonight and Thursday.

This picture version has been taken from the novel, "The Dark Swan," by Ernest Pascal. It relates the efforts of a feminine charmer to win her sister's lover away and the plot is said by metropolitan critics to be both subtle and thrilling.

Germans Restrict Sale of Liquors

Berlin, April 9.—German "drys" expressed satisfaction today over the victory won yesterday when the Reichstag passed the liquor restrictions bill.

Under the new law, which will take effect July 1, shops dispensing intoxicants must close at 1 a. m. It is left to the discretion of the various states, however, to carry out certain terms of leniency. This means that in the larger centers permits may be issued, the holders being allowed to stay open until a later hour.

The principal restriction of the new measure, in which a majority concurred, prohibits the sale of intoxicants to all persons under 16 years of age.

Files Enjoinment

COLUMBUS, April 9.—Charging among other things that the proposal would be for the sole benefit of the Sandusky Bay Bridge company operating a bridge across Sandusky Bay, Oscar Bertsch, a taxpayer, filed suit in Franklin county common pleas court yesterday to enjoin State Highway Director R. N. Wald from opening bids for grading and paving a 3,875 foot section of the Port Clinton-Bay Bridge road, state highway 569, in Ottawa county. Estimated cost of the work was $29,500.

All-Star Baseball Team Planned At Dun Eden Lake This Year

THE DAY In Sports

ALL SET FOR BANQUET
W. H. MULLINS GIVES AID
FANS REMEMBER WAGNER

W. H. MULLINS, who made possible the construction of the Memorial building, has contributed to the success of the baseball banquet which will be held at the Memorial building tomorrow night with a financial donation. Mr. Mullins, who has continually aided in the success of many Salem ventures was invited to attend the banquet by Joe Kelley but will probably be unable to attend.

Salem owes much to Mr. Mullins. The Memorial building will always stand as a monument to his valuable work here.

IT DOESN'T TAKE the old-time Salem baseball fan long to recall the fact that Hans Wagner, former National league star, performed here against Salem teams several times about 20 years ago. The "Flying Dutchman" and his Pittsburgh Pirates played against the old Salem professionals, a team which is probably the greatest in the city's history.

IN ONE APPEARANCE here, the Pirates played before a gathering of fans which crowded the old wooden grandstand at Reilly athletic stadium to capacity. Others were seated on bleachers at the north end of the field and those who were unable to get seats were perched in almost every outfield. Those were the days when Salem fans were given some real baseball.

Dwight Falk, one of the city's greatest slappers, faced the Pirates from the pitcher's box in this game. It was a real hurling battle with Pittsburgh winning by a 4-0 score. But the real treat came when Hans, then at the height of his fame as a hitter, walked to the batter's plate, took three lusty swings at Falk's offerings and returned to the bench, a strikeout victim.

Few cared about the result of the game after that. Fans hurled money at Falk from the grandstand and went wild with enthusiasm. The outcome of the contest was a minor matter with them.

THIS LITTLE BIT of baseball history in connection with Wagner's appearance here was recalled by a Salem baseball fan here Tuesday night. In all of the modern day's discussions in hot stove league sessions, the days when Joe Calladine, Dwight Falks and others, played here, form highlights. As far as the old-timer is concerned, there never will come another time in the city's history as that of 20 years ago when this team represented the city in professional baseball and was among the best in Ohio.

Plans are practically completed for the banquet. Tickets have been handed out by Joe Kelley to several persons and are on sale in various downtown business establishments.

Pete Scullion Signed Manager Of Outfit For Coming Season

With Donald "Pete" Scullion, veteran Salem baseball star, signed as manager, an all-star independent baseball team is planned for the coming season at Dun Eden lake, George W. Dunn, owner of the recreation park announced today.

Scullion has been placed in full charge of organization of the aggregation, which, according to present plans, will be one of the strongest produced from the Salem district in years.

Material will be selected from cities in this district and it is probable that most of the first nine will be composed of Salem players. Scullion is now actively preparing the team roster and will have things in order for the season to get under way early in the summer.

Baseball has proved no money-making proposition at Dun Eden for the past two years despite Dunn's efforts to develop a team of outstanding strength. A fairly strong team was placed in the independent field last year, composed of players from Salem, Lisbon and other towns in this district.

Located Near Salem Dun Eden is located about five and one-half miles northwest of Salem on the Ellsworth rd. It is continually a magnet for various get-together affairs—reunions, picnics and other affairs—and is one of the district's popular resorts for outings.

Victory Makes Primo $17,000

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., April 9.—Primo Carnera, the Italian Behemoth, today was richer by approximately $17,000, following his knockout victory last night over Neil Glisby, Negro heavyweight who went to the canvas three minutes and 40 seconds after the opening gong.

Glisby landed just one punch, a right to the stomach that drew a word of caution from Referee Larry McGrath. Carnera pursued the Negro throughout the first round, unable to land solidly. One of Carnera's blows in the first sent Glisby to one knee. When Carnera was able to shake him loose in the second, a short right to the stomach and a shorter left to the point of the chin finished the Negro.

It was Carnera's fourteenth straight knockout since his arrival in the United States.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 9.—Having conquered Bill Walker, who is rated as the ace of the New York Giant pitching staff, at Terre Haute yesterday, the Chicago White Sox, were in Indianapolis bent on gaining another decision over their National league rivals today. Red Faber was Manager Donie Bush's nominee to pitch against the Giants.

MANAGER

DONALD "PETE" SCULLION has been signed to manage the Dun Eden lake baseball team during the coming season by George W. "Gordy" Dunn, owner of the park who is planning to place an all-star team into independent competition this year.

KANSAS CITY, April 9.—Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Chicago Cubs, freed of worry over whether Rogers Hornsby and Charlie Grimm will be ready for the opening of the National league campaign, is pondering on who among his recruits will be cast adrift at the close of the series with the Kansas City Blues.

Five pitchers must go, and Ed Lautenbacher, Henry Gramp, George Bell, Lou Warneke and Bud Teachout appear to be headed for other places.

Phillies Through With Chet Nichols

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—The management of the Phillies is "through foolin' with Chester Nichols," right handed pitcher drafted from the Montreal club. "We've stopped trying to please him," Manager Shotton said today. "He missed the entire training trip and we have no word from him. We offered him a 50 per cent increase over last year's salary, but he remained away. I don't know what's on his mind, but he hasn't got away with anything."

After conferring with President Baker, Shotton said, it was decided to complete the payment for Nichols and let him remain at home "to think it over." Having raised the pitcher's salary at intervals the Phillies have now given him a cut and ordered him to report or be suspended. There was no intention, it was said, to permit him to play elsewhere.

Fields Kayoes Tom Freeman

Sensational Battle In Cleveland Featured by Hard Slugging

CLEVELAND, April 9. — Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, won a technical knockout over Tommy Freeman of Erie, Pa., last night in one of the greatest slugging matches witnessed here in years.

Fields, reeling from a right to the jaw in the first round and apparently on the verge of taking the count, rallied to batter Freeman around the ring until Referee Patsy Haley of New York refused to allow Tommy to answer the bell for the fifth round. The fight was scheduled for 12 rounds.

Fight Results

Another great triumph of great engineering

The new Chrysler Six comes to the public at a price that almost anyone can afford—a splendid tribute to the Chrysler ability to turn out extraordinary values. It is a typical Chrysler creation from rims to roof—by long odds the finest motor car ever to appear in the field of lower-priced sixes.

Here at amazingly low prices are the great advantages of Chrysler engineering—such advantages as weatherproof internal-expanding 4-wheel hydraulic brakes; 62-horsepower high-compression engine; special-type spring shackles and shock absorbers; and typically Chrysler-styled bodies of new design and construction.

Such a car at such a price is hardly believable, yet here it is. There is no reason—now—why anybody should be denied the thrill and pride of owning a Chrysler.

Used Parts Of Autos Form Business Here; Deal In Scrap Metal

With two big yards operating all the time, the Salem Scrap and Wrecking company has an immense number of auto parts at their disposal all the while. These are in good shape, as anything that shows injury goes to the junk pile. They have been taken, in the nine years the company has been serving Salem, from all kinds of cars. Parts are to be found here for cars that have not been manufactured for years, as well as parts for new cars. Any one who has tried to obtain a part for a car that is running well but has not been made for say four years will realize what a great convenience this business affords.

Garage men find it can take care of their wants in a hurry. Owners of fleets of cars and trucks make substantial reductions on their repair bills by going to these yards. Motorists who want a used tire often find a real bargain, and the man whose battery gives out can drive to these places with the assurance that he can find either a used battery in good condition or a new one that will fit his car. The big business done by this company means that its stock of parts is far in excess of many others, and that it has about everything that can be called for. Moreover, the way in which it does business, with the principle of a square deal to all, gives an added pleasure in doing business here.

This company also deals in scrap metal of all kinds, converting an otherwise valueless byproduct of industry into good dollars that are brought into Salem from the sale of these products, and which help build up the community, conserving its resources and making an income from its wastes.

Activities of this company are directed by Harry Mats and Ben Fisher.

Cleaning Necessary To Good Clothes; Helps Appearance

There are good reasons why you should have your clothes cleaned every so often that are as well known to you as to the dry cleaner. Healthfulness and appearance are both concerned, and you have a right to expect that dry cleaning service will be a thorough job, well done in a complete plant, and that your clothing will come from the plant actually clean clear through, with the freshness and complete freedom from dirt they should have.

Now, this is possible only when the cleaning establishment to which you entrust your clothing possesses two requirements—the equipment to do the work completely and the knowledge to do it satisfactorily. Real dry cleaning requires the equipment to wash thoroughly the garment in a clean fluid, then to deodorize it completely, after which it is ready to be pressed.

Not always, not often, will immersion in one bath remove all the stains. Sometimes it only dilutes them. The dry cleaner must have the knowledge of a dozen processes at hand, or the results for you are rather disastrous. He perhaps need not be a finished chemist, but he must know what detergents to use.

And in what strength they can be used safely, or your clothing will show the effects.

These are some of the reasons why you should entrust your dry cleaning to Wark's, Inc., at 166 S. Broadway. This establishment has the knowledge of how to use its equipment properly, and the equipment to do the job right. To those it adds the determination that each job it handles must be done to the best of its ability. So when your clothes come home from Wark's they are really clean, their wearing qualities have not been injured by strong chemicals, and they are as sweet smelling and as really wholesome as you can expect. Try it yourself and see why this concern retains its old customers and makes new friends all the time.

reunited with the descendants of their original owner.

Coronet is a book of much power and magnetism. It is longer than the average novel but it's life will also be longer than the average novel.

The Son of Perdition
By James Gould Cozzens

This book "Son of Perdition" by Cozzens, has for its setting the hot and sweltering seaport of a Cuban sugar district. The United Sugar Company controls every interest from the largest mills to the poorest individual. Joel Stewalls is supreme dictator and he rules his subjects with sternest and wisest. Vidal Monaga, his oldest friend, is a Cuban with a great deal of pride in his name and honor. It is around him and his son and daughter that the plot is built. Nida, the daughter who is beautiful and rather casual with her love affairs, is always put aside for her brother Omundo. It is through him that Fate strikes at Vidal, nearly breaking that powerful old Cuban.

Another character, Findlay, an American with treacherous and thieving habits, does his part to bring about the climax of the story.

At the end of the book you are very much aware that there is a "son of perdition" but you are not quite sure which character Mr. Cozzens had in mind when he named the book.

The book loses much in the telling, but in spite of the fact there is much color and motion, bringing out the vividness that we usually associate with the tropics.

Scanning New Books

Coronet
By Manuel Komroff

BY RAY SCHILLING

Komroff took seven years to write "Coronet"—Six years of thinking and one of actual writing—and he has produced a masterpiece. It is a story of the decline of Aristocracy told through the history of a golden coronet, made by a master goldsmith in 1609 in Florence. At the same time that the coronet was made for Count de Senlis of the French aristocracy, a Russian prince had his silver whip mended in the same shop. How these two objects cross each other's paths down through the centuries is a story in itself.

From the Renaissance, Komroff takes us to the beginning of Napoleon's march upon Russia. His defeat, not by the Russians, but by the Russian winter, is told by a man that shows he has given much time and thought and study to his subject. Then in 1909 you have the aristocracy of intellect that sprang to life in the German universities, which was later to be abandoned. The last book is in 1919, after aristocracy has become humbug, and democracy taken its place.

You trace the rise and fall of families—the French nobles and the Russian prince's decline, and the rise of the two little drummer boys who had been made corporals by Napoleon himself, and were later to become renowned and wealthy.

With it all goes the golden coronet and the silver whip—many to be separated forever, but also to be reunited with the descendants of their original owner.

FAMINE EXACTS CHINESE LIVES

Parents Reported To Be Eating Own Children By Missionaries

PEIPING, CHINA, April 9.—Reports received by the China international relief commission say that so terrible have famine conditions become in the Wei river district that in some cases parents have eaten their children.

V. G. Plymire, missionary, writing from Tsinghai on March 8 to John Earl Baker, director of relief operations, said: "Only two days from here several families ate their children."

Findlay Andrew, traveling inspector, reporting conditions in the Central Shensi district, wrote "it is estimated by the time of the wheat harvest in May there will be only 3,000,000 inhabitants remaining of 6,000,000 when the famine began. The agony of the past winter can never be described. In the small Wukung district alone, there have been 600,000 deaths from starvation and cold."

WINONA

Mrs. Lydia Brantingham and two sons, Paul and Robert, returned Friday from a three days' visit with relatives in Cleveland. They attended the flower show and were accompanied home by the younger son, Maynard, who has been spending a few weeks with his aunt.

An all day meeting of the Winona W. C. T. U. will be held today at the home of Mrs. Lydia Brantingham, sewing for the Italian mission at Wellsville, which is under the care of Rev. Bonacci, will occupy the attention of those attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Walton and family of Salem spent the day with Mrs. Walton's mother, Mrs. Rachel Andre and sister Ethel, Sunday.

Andrew Pollard and family of Warren were Sunday guests of Edward Woolman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Whitacre of Cleveland were weekend guests of his mother, Mrs. Mary Whitacre.

Wilson and Mary Steer with their daughter Debora, spent Sunday with James Steers at Youngstown.

Mrs. Steer remained over night and went from there to Oberlin Monday.

Joseph Holloway arrived Monday from a week's visit with friends at Philadelphia and went on to Oberlin the same evening to resume his studies at Oberlin college.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — George Eastman is to give cameras to children whose 12th birthday comes this year. The gifts will commemorate the 50th anniversary of his first patent.

"TROUBLE again?" I sez to Egbert, as he rolled over the old threshold for the third time this week, "your old bus must think this repair shop is Home, Sweet Home!"

"Well, what's wrong with it now, Bill?" sez he, sorta pathetic-like.

"Not a thing wrong with the wagon," sez I, squinting at its innards, "but it looks like there's plenty wrong with the oil. What's this stuff you're usin' anyway, liquid shoe-polish, or jest plain molasses?"

"Take a tip from me, Egbert, and stick to Freedom Perfect. It's made from pure 100% Pennsylvania Crude. Let Freedom ring the bell . . . and it won't be for a tow-truck, either."

..SWEEPING UPWARD in popularity-

There really never has been anything quite like the success of the Chrysler-built De Soto Six. It rushed into sudden popularity the moment the motoring public laid eyes on it—and went on to set up a new first-year sales record for the industry. That success grew and grew and today continues without lag or let-up. All this is simply a matter of cause and effect. The De Soto Six is a huge success in sales because it is a huge success in engineering and manufacturing—a six that definitely offers the owner more for his money in all those qualities that make for enjoyment, pride of possession and greater value. By no means consider buying any Six without taking a ride in a De Soto Six.
